

Tonasket Natural Foods Co-op

will host a screening of the movie

Food for Change

Friday, October 5th

in honor of National Co-op Month

Documentary Portrays Food Coops as Community-Centered Economic Movement

“Food co-ops, both urban and rural, are the most intrepid local retailers,” explains filmmaker Steve Alves. “The co-ops do ‘local’ better than anyone, because they are passionately selling their own communities –not just as any one product – but as the vision of the whole business venture. When it comes to ‘local’ food, co-ops run circles around the big box stores.”

Dinner

prepared by Buffalo Mazzetti
& Volunteers

5:30-7pm

Feature-length Film

begins at 7:00

at the

Community Cultural Center

411 Western Ave

free event

Call 486-4188 for more information